INTRODUCTION

The purpose of this Graphics Style Guide is to ensure the consistent use and application of the Dallas CASA graphic identity which has been designed to reflect the organizational purpose and spirit. It provides guidelines and details for how to correctly apply the graphic identity and should be used when producing, updating and creating graphics for all Dallas CASA materials—whether in print, online or in other media. The key elements include:

- Logos and Marks (pages 2-5)
- Typography (pages 6-7)
- Color Palette (page 8)
- Photography (pages 9-14)
- Bars, blocks and transparencies (page 15)

In addition to the brand elements above that apply to all Dallas CASA communications, this Graphic Style Guide also covers additional guidelines for specialized communications. These include:

- Events (pages 16-18)
- Social Media (pages 19-21)
Logo Lockup

The Dallas CASA logo lockup utilizes the national CASA icon as its core identifier for organizational alignment while clearly identifying Dallas CASA as the singular organization represented. The colors and font are part of both the national and Dallas CASA identity program.

When the logo is used in color, this is the only color combination that can be used. The top of the icon is in PMS 485 red, and all other elements are PMS 295 blue.

When the logo is used in B/W, the red in the icon should change to 60% black, and all blue elements change to 100% black.

When the logo is used on top of a dark color box or dark area of a photo, the reversed version of the logo should be used. All elements are white.
Logo Clear Space

In order to maintain a consistent identity, minimum clear spaces should be used when applying the logo. Since the logo scales for various applications, the 'X height' of "Dallas CASA and Court Appointed Special Advocates" is used as the measuring tool. The diagram below demonstrates how this tool is used.

This is a minimum clear space. Other page elements should never be placed within this 'X height' proximity.
Tagline Marks

PRIMARY TAGLINE: ABUSED CHILDREN CAN’T WAIT

“Abused Children Can’t Wait” (ACCW) was introduced in 2013 as the name of Dallas CASA’s comprehensive campaign, and the first logo below was used throughout the duration of the campaign.

After the campaign concluded, “Abused Children Can’t Wait” became the primary tagline of Dallas CASA (replacing “Stand Up for Abused Children”). “The Campaign for Dallas CASA” was removed from the logo, and the ACCW mark below became the primary tagline mark for Dallas CASA and should be used whenever possible.

[Logo: Abused children can’t wait]

This campaign logo should no longer be used. When updating items, make sure this logo is removed and replaced with the tagline mark below.

[Logo: Abused children can’t wait]

When the mark is used in color, this is the only color combination that can be used. Text is PMS 295 blue and the underline is PMS 485 red. See exceptions for event communications on pages 16-17.

[Logo: Abused children can’t wait]

When the mark is used on top of a dark color, this reversed version of the logo should be used.

[Logo: Abused children can’t wait]

When the logo is used in B/W, the entire mark should be in 100% black.

RECRUITMENT TAGLINE: STAND UP FOR ABUSED CHILDREN

“Stand Up for Abused Children” is now a secondary tagline of Dallas CASA, used only as a call to action for volunteer advocates. The “Stand Up for Abused Children” mark should be used instead of “Abused Children Can’t Wait” on volunteer recruitment materials.

Additional Logos

TEXT ONLY AND MARK ONLY: While the full logo lockup shown on page 2 is preferred, if a layout becomes too busy, one of the text-only logos or the logo mark below can be used as an alternate.

!Logo Variations

NOTE: The logo mark should never be used near “Dallas CASA” unless the logo lockup is utilized. The logo mark can be used independently (such as social media profile images) or as a large graphic element incorporated into the background of a layout. When used as a background element, a transparency or tint can be utilized to reduce contrast and ensure readability of text.

AFFINITY GROUP LOCKUPS: The Dallas CASA logo can also be modified for Dallas CASA affinity groups as shown below.

!Affinity Group Lockups

NOTE: Standard color variations—reversed (red / white), all white or all black—may be used for all affinity group lockups. Voices of Hope logo can also be used with different photos (or no photo). Otherwise, these lockups should not be altered any any way.
Type Family

Dallas CASA primary typefaces are Geometric and Sabon and must be used for the text in all published materials. High Strung—a handwritten style—is a secondary typeface. Note as a general rule, italics should not be used in headlines, web pages and e-communications.

Color Palette

There are two main colors of the Dallas CASA system: PMS 485 red and PMS 295 blue, both selected to align with the national and state affiliated organizations. In addition to a liberal use of white space, they form the core of the color palette. Black, PMS Cool Gray 9 and PMS 2995 light blue are also part of the color palette and are intended for secondary use, for accents within text and other minor uses of color.

Photography is a key element of the Dallas CASA brand, and photos should be carefully selected to fully comply with brand guidelines. The following guidelines should be followed for all child photos:

- Serious photos are ALWAYS in black and white, and joyful photos are ALWAYS in color—Black and white photos represent the need, and color photos represent the transformative impact of Dallas CASA. This is a key element of the Dallas CASA brand and should be followed across ALL communication platforms.

- No foster kids—Photos of current or former foster children CANNOT be used. Photos must be stock images or commissioned photos using child models whose parents have signed model release forms for Dallas CASA.

- No props—No props or distracting objects should be in the photo.

- Neutral backgrounds—Backgrounds can be either outdoor or indoor, but should always be neutral and not distract from the child in any way. Out of focus backgrounds are preferred.

- Crop photos for layout—Photos should always be cropped appropriately for the layout, either cropped tightly on the child or pulled back with negative space in the photo used for copy or logos. Make the child the focal point.

BLACK AND WHITE CHILD IMAGES: SERIOUS/EVOCATIVE

Black and white photos of children should be serious and emotionally evocative—but not sad or angry. The child can either be looking directly into the camera or looking away.

COLOR CHILD IMAGES: JOYFUL/HAPPY

Color photos of children should be happy and full of life. Expressions and poses should be natural, and the child should be looking directly into the camera.

VOLUNTEER HOLDING FRAMED CHILD PHOTO

Individual adult volunteers and groups are photographed (in-studio on a white seamless backdrop) holding a large photo frame.

- Volunteer in B/W—Volunteer images must be black and white.
- Child in color—The child photo in frame must be a joyful image (in color) and cropped tightly.
- Sized for layout—Photo should be sized as large as possible to fit layout.
- Bleed off photos—Photo should bleed off the edge of the layout and/or bleed into a solid block of color—especially along the bottom if photo is not full body.

Framing Devices

TRANSPARENCIES AND COLOR BLOCKS AND BARS: One of the visual elements of the Dallas CASA brand is the use of transparent color boxes and bars as a unifying element and framing device.

Transparencies can be used in a variety of ways to either frame an image or connect a photo to other elements of the page layout.

In order to achieve vibrant transparencies that do not look washed out, designers should work with various color modes in their page layout programs such as “hard light” or “overlay,” and may need to layer more than one transparent box with different modes and percentage values to achieve the desired color.

You don’t have to be a lawyer or social worker to be a CASA volunteer. CASA advocates come from all professions, ethnic and educational backgrounds. You must simply have a desire to help abused children.

As a CASA volunteer, you will receive extensive training, and you will have the support of Dallas CASA staff members to help you through each case. CASA volunteers review records, research information and talk to everyone involved—social workers, attorneys, judges, parents, teachers, family members, and of course the children themselves.

CASA volunteers then make recommendations to the court that help judges decide the best possible outcomes for children in foster care.

What does it take to be a CASA?

You don’t have to be a lawyer or social worker to be a CASA volunteer. CASA advocates come from all professions, ethnic and educational backgrounds. You must simply have a desire to help abused children.

As a CASA volunteer, you will receive extensive training, and you will have the support of Dallas CASA staff members to help you through each case. You can be the difference.

Become a CASA volunteer and be rewarded with a powerful and fulfilling experience. Your involvement will make a direct and critical impact on a child’s life.

Every child’s family circumstances are different. Trained and supervised CASA volunteers help judges make informed decisions about each child’s future. Some children safely reunite with parents or relatives, while others make a connection with adoptive parents.

For CASA volunteers, the ultimate goal is to help ensure that all of these children live in safe, permanent homes where they can thrive.
Events

Dallas CASA organizes a variety of recurring fundraising and recruitment events. While each event maintains elements of the Dallas CASA brand and adheres to most guidelines outlined on the previous pages, each event also has a unique look and feel that sets it apart from the overall Dallas CASA brand. The following is a brief overview of the event sub-brands and any deviations from the general brand guidelines.

CHAMPION OF CHILDREN

- All materials should have a very high-end, sophisticated look and feel.
- Materials use only the dark blue (PMS 295) and cool gray 9 from the Dallas CASA color palette (NO red or PMS 2995 blue) plus gradients of gray to create a silver look.
- Brand fonts should be used.
- Dallas CASA and ACCW mark can be used in all gray.

CHERISH THE CHILDREN

- All materials should have a fresh, feminine look and feel.
- The chair from the event logo is the primary graphic element used in all materials.
- Each year a new color palette and background pattern are selected. These colors do NOT have to be within the Dallas CASA color palette.
- Dallas CASA and ACCW mark can be used in one of the event colors, all white or all black.
- In addition to brand fonts, Novitha Script is also used.
PARADE OF PLAYHOUSES

- All materials should have a child-focused look and feel.
- Materials use Dallas CASA’s standard color palette and brand fonts.

CASABLANCA AND VOICES FOR A CAUSE

- These events hosted by Dallas CASA Young Professionals should have a young, modern look and feel.
- CASAblanca materials use the Dallas CASA color palette, but black becomes a primary color.
- Voices for a Cause materials use the Dallas CASA color palette, but the use of transparencies and effects may alter their appearance.
- While event logos use additional fonts, event communications should only use brand fonts.
Events (continued)

MiCASA SuCASA AND MEN OF CASA

- Materials for these recruitment events utilize bold headlines and volunteer and/or child images to grab the attention of demographically-targeted volunteer groups.

- MiCASA SuCASA materials use Dallas CASA’s standard color palette.

- Men of CASA materials use PMS 1375 gold as a secondary color, in addition to Dallas CASA’s standard color palette.

- Brand fonts should be used.
Social Media

Social media plays an integral part in Dallas CASA’s communications strategy and serves as one of the most public representations of the Dallas CASA brand. The following guidelines apply to all social media communications (posts and page headers/cover images) across all platforms—Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, Google+, YouTube, and LinkedIn. Any additional platforms utilized in the future should also conform to these guidelines.

• ALL social media communications must be consistent with the Dallas CASA brand—Fonts, colors, photos and logo usage must all adhere to the guidelines presented on the previous pages of the Graphic Style Guide.

• Limit use of photo collages—One strong photo is more impactful than numerous weak and/or tiny photos. If more than one photo is needed, attach multiple images to a post in a format where each image can be viewed at full size.

• Limit use of designed (photo plus text) posts—Designed posts and banners should only be used when utilizing a consistent template/format (see page 19) or part of an event’s marketing materials (see page 20). For all other social media communications, keep posts simple with one photo, and utilize caption/description for message and/or call to action. The vast majority of social media communications should follow this format, rather than combining photos, text and other graphic elements into a designed post. Videos and links are also acceptable post formats.

Since multiple photos are needed, several images are attached to one post. When you click through, you can view each image at a large size. There is no embedded text or graphics on any of the photos. This format should be used for all social media platforms (except YouTube), rather than photo collages.

• Designed social media posts use a consistent format/template—When designed posts and banners are utilized, they must use a consistent template/format that is part of a series. No designed posts or banner should be created as a “one-off,” which can easily lead to a social media feed that looks chaotic.

Series of designed social media banners and posts

---

NOTE: While this Graphic Style Guide only covers the visual components of the brand, it is crucial that social media messages also align with the voice of Dallas CASA. Approved taglines and key messages should be utilized.

- Event posts must be consistent with the event brand—Event posts and banners are either part of an event’s suite of marketing materials (designed as companions to print and/or web materials) or non-designed posts that remain consistent with event brand. See examples below.
